ABOUT WWF

The World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF) Philippines has been working as a national organization of the WWF network since 1997. Since our founding, WWF-Philippines continues to implement various conservation projects to help protect some of the most biologically-significant ecosystems in the country.

We are committed to creating an impact on biodiversity protection and to respond to the climate crisis. Through our partnerships, we co-create nature-based solutions that emphasize the role of science in the service of life.

We believe that planetary health is deeply connected to human health. We face urgent environmental challenges by working to protect natural habitats and to build sustainable communities where all Filipinos have access to the resources they need.

At WWF-Philippines, we work to #ChangeTheEnding of our environmental crisis. We believe that when we are responsible together, anything is possible.

“Life Below Water” is a compilation of photos featuring scenic seascapes and never-before-seen marine life. The photos in the book were taken between 2020 and 2021 by 17-year old photographer Ganden Medved-Po during the COVID-19 pandemic under the mentorship of world-renowned underwater photographer Scott “Gutsy” Tuason.

All proceeds from the sale of the book will benefit the sustainable fisheries work of the World Wide Fund for Nature - Philippines.

CLASSIC WWF COLLECTION

The Classic WWF Collection features our iconic panda logo. The design has evolved over the past four decades, but the giant panda's distinctive features remain an integral part of WWF's treasured and unmistakable symbol. Today, WWF's trademark is recognized as a universal symbol for the conservation movement.

CHI-CHI THE GIANT PANDA

The inspiration for the WWF logo came from Chi-Chi, a giant panda that was living at the London Zoo in 1961, the same year WWF was created. WWF's founders were aware of the need for a strong, recognizable symbol that would overcome all language barriers. They agreed that the big, furry animal with her appealing, black-patched eyes would make an excellent choice.

EARTH HOUR

Earth Hour is a global environmental movement of WWF, aimed at inspiring and empowering individuals, businesses, organizations, and governments to take tangible action for the planet. It has grown from a symbolic event in Sydney 2007 to the world's largest grassroots environmental movement spanning over 7,000 cities and 180 countries and territories. As the movement grows, the one-hour lights-out event continues to be the symbol of a broader commitment toward the planet. The core message of Earth Hour lies in going Beyond the Hour - on what tangible action you can do after the lights go back on.

PRIDE FOR THE PLANET

Celebrating #PrideMonth is important at WWF because we value the diversity of our staff, partners, and supporters every bit as much as we value biodiversity. Big shoutout and thanks to our passionate LGBTQ+ community, who have all played monumental roles in fighting for our one shared home. Be loud and proud for the planet and diversity. Since we're stronger together, let us show our love for all life on Earth, with immense Pride!

10 facts about me:

1. I am made up of POLYSTYRENE.
2. I am BPA-free. So I'm not hazardous to your health.
3. I am non-toxic. Additives used to create me have passed FDA. Hooray!
4. I am leak-proof. Squeaky clean!
5. I can only store liquids up to 60 °C. So I am not HOT, but I'm cool!
6. I love fruits but I don't like them staying in me for more than 24 hours. Our chemical romance is not that sweet.
7. I am not scratch-proof. Hence, I need to be protected.
8. I am not unbreakable. So please be gentle on me.
9. I might smell plastic sometimes, but it's the plasticizer that stops me from becoming brittle. You may use baking soda to clear the air.
10. I have a cute mouth. So you can clean me by getting a long-stem sponge. If you don't have one, just insert a sponge and use a fork or spoon to control the sponge inside. Improvise!
